Neighborhoods work better when they work together.

Inter-Neighborhood Cooperation

Dear Ms. Schaufele,

Inter-Neighborhood Cooperation (INC), an association of more than 100 Registered Neighborhood Organizations (RNOs) from neighborhoods throughout Denver, would like to express support for the City and County of Denver's funding request for the Urban Mobility Hubs Planning Study through DRCOG's Study/Station Area Master Plan Program.

INC recognizes the need for urban mobility hub studies to evaluate strategies that connect our communities from an integrated citywide approach. Such studies address multimodal access not only around light-rail stations, but also in neighborhoods served by bus transit corridors.

Denver's Urban Mobility Hubs Planning study will focus on the finer-grained Denver connectivity, which will benefit neighborhoods throughout the city.

We strongly support City and County of Denver's application for funding and feel that their effort to evaluate locations for mobility hubs will reveal opportunities to strengthen the citywide multimodal network as a whole. These kinds of efforts are critical to Denver's neighborhoods as the City and regional as a whole continues to grow. Improving mobility throughout the city is very important to our membership.

Sincerely,

Larry Ambrose
President, INC
