40 Years

As 2015 comes to a close, Inter-Neighborhood Cooperation (INC) acknowledges a long journey of forty years on the road of addressing neighborhood concerns citywide.

In 1975 a group of activists from several neighborhood organizations realized that neighborhood issues were of similar concern across the city. A meeting was held to establish a cooperation of these groups and thus, Inter-Neighborhood Cooperation was born.

From the Veep's Cubicle

October has been a busy month for us at the INC. What I remember most are two gatherings. One at Prairie Park with the installation of a beautiful kiosk-sign which INC's own Diana Helper has worked for decades to bring into being. She and John Helper with Eileen Abbattista have sung their way into our hearts with musical fund-raisers. READ MORE HERE

Is recycled water affecting park trees in Denver?

A question posed by KUSA and aired Nov 10.

KUSA- It's called Evergreen Hill — a landscape design added on to Washington Park about 100 years ago.

“We normally would’ve been in the dark here, almost,
